Bryden was an excellent teacher because his passion for the subject was obvious and he explained concepts clearly and in many ways so everyone could understand. I had a very good experience in his class.

Fall 2004

Bryden was an excellent teacher because he understood the material very well and really cared about our learning it. He was very helpful meeting outside of class. Bryden was ~~the~~ the best teacher I've had in my 3 years @ U of M, and I especially appreciated the extra help in math. He was very good @ answering questions and @ explaining difficult topics. You could tell that math really matters to him - and that we understood it.

Fall 2004

Bryden has done a nice job teaching the course. At the beginning it was hard adjusting to the different expectations of a college course, but he helped us through it. His laid-back demeanor was a great help sometimes

I truly appreciate the fact that Bryden was willing to meet students outside of the classroom to help them out. He seemed deeply concerned in making certain that all of his students understood what they needed to understand.

1. Bryden always come prepared with a lesson plan and used all the time he could in and out of class to make sure we understood the concepts and problems in order to prepare us for work and exams. He always treated us with respect and tried his best to answer our questions so that we understood our problems. Bryden made the class enjoyable also by pushing class-involvement and discussion.

Fall 2004

I thought Bryden was a very good teacher. Right off the bat, he made sure every one could attend at least one office hour, so he had to somewhat work around our schedules. He was also willing to meet with us if something came up. Team hwk helped to interact with people to discuss problems. Bryden's excitement for math made the class more fun.
